Hi All,

I understand that €5 billion will be spent on housing to build 30,000 units.

Its accepted that we need approx 40,000 built per year.

We need a blue print of where these 40,000 units will be built every year for the next 20-30 years e.g. where will these 800,000 to 1,200,000 households be located.

I suggest high speed 350 kph trains are a basis of the connected communities outside of Dublin but only minutes by train e.g. Galway 40mins, Athlone 20mins, Limerick 45 mins etc. for a Luas of the cities.

Thank you.
